WHY BOOK HIM

Stories that stick.

Mike Arnold founded a statewide television news network at twenty-eight. He came up through the dotcom boom, built a youth ministry working in multiple states, got elected mayor of his Texas hometown, became the first Texas mayor to put artificial intelligence to work in a city hall, and wrote the #1 bestseller about it. He holds an executive MBA in strategic leadership from the second-ranked program in the country.

He has also stared down a charging bull hippo in Tanzania, lassoed a cayman croc in the Amazon, served in a Nigerian leper colony, and spent sixteen years documenting the longest running genocide on earth.

That is the proposition. A transformative leader across a lot of fields, a top education, deep global experience, a life of adventure — and the thing that ties it together: he can tell it. Audiences remember stories, not frameworks.

Nigeria's government flew him to Abuja to deny a genocide. He stood up at their own press conference and told the truth instead. Nigerians named him the EarthShaker.

> "A former mayor of a little town in Texas who has taken on and dramatically exposed the government of Nigeria for its role in genocide against Christians... prompting President Trump, among other things, to step in."
